defence because Weiderhold refused to produce his daughter in court in answer to a subpoena. She was in court yesterday

Lawyer Collins tried to show that Weiderhold caused the arrest of Ferney in order to break up an alleged attachment between him and Miss Weiderhold, but Judge Humphrey refused to allow the questions. The lawyer then appealed to the court to compel Weiderhold to allow him to talk to Miss Weiderhold. The court ruled that he could not talk with her, but could put her on the stand as a witness. This the lawyer declined to do.

Policeman Cronin testified that Weiderhold had asked him to arrest Ferney for carrying concealed weapons and Weiderhold gave the same testimony. Several witnesses testified to the good character of Ferney.

The jury's verdict of guilty was accompanied by a strong recommendation of mercy.
